

Senior Lecturer, Service
Design
0.6 FTE

We are one of the great British art schools: a specialist creative arts university that draws on nearly 180 years of history, with our focus on the future and the role of creativity in addressing global challenges and opportunities.

For further information about Norwich University of the Arts and our community please visit norwichuni.ac.uk

We celebrate diversity and believe it to be at the core of any creative endeavour. Whatever your background, identity and prior experience, wherever you are from, we want you to bring your whole self to work each day, in an environment that recognises your unique contribution.

In choosing to work at Norwich University of the Arts, you will join a community of creative academics, technicians and professional experts who are committed to delivering exceptional Creative Arts Education, Research and Knowledge Exchange. You will work in a stimulating and critically engaged workplace, where the creativity of all our students will develop because of your commitment.

With nearly 3,000 students and more than 700 dedicated colleagues, Norwich University of the Arts is proud to be a small university making a big impact. We are the only specialist creative university to achieve a triple gold rating in the Teaching Excellence Framework (TEF) and were recently named Arts University of the Year 2025 by the Daily Mail

We are in the Top 10 for Teaching Quality in the 2022 Sunday Times Good University Guide. We are the highest climber in the Complete University Guide 2023 – the highest-ranked specialist creative arts university outside London and were named University of the Year for Student Retention by the Sunday Times 2020 Good University Guide for the support we offer from pre-enrolment to post-graduation.

You will work in the heart of Norwich. We are proud of our award-winning campus, which has played a pivotal role in regenerating an exciting quarter of the city.

Our 21st century teaching spaces and workshops are housed in renovated buildings with Medieval, Victorian and Edwardian heritage. Norwich University of the Arts won the Outstanding Estates Strategy Award at the 2018 Times Higher Leadership and Management Awards.

In support of its new Strategy, the University has recently acquired a new building in the heart of Norwich. Bank Plain, a former bank, is an additional 37,000 sq. ft of space and an ambitious commitment to being a high profile, civic university championing the creative arts.

Ninety-four per cent of our graduates are in work or further study six months after graduation, and Norwich University of the Arts won a Guardian University Award for Employability and Entrepreneurship in 2019 for our innovative 'gamification' of careers advice. You will find our graduates in key positions across and beyond the creative sector and industries.

There are of course Oscar nominees and BAFTA winners but also rising stars who are honoured across the creative industries: from D&AD Pencil winners, to emerging fine artists, photographers and fashion designers.

We understand that making career choices requires careful consideration. We hope that as you learn about us you will be inspired by our ambitions for the future.

Professor Simon Ofield-Kerr, Vice-Chancellor, Norwich University of the Arts

Committed to

EQUALITY DIVERSITY

Norwich University of the Arts is committed to being an inclusive community that offers equality of opportunity and enables our staff and students to flourish and succeed, regardless of their background or personal circumstances.

Our commitment to equality, diversity and inclusion is embedded in everything that we do. We celebrate the diversity of our backgrounds, cultures and actions, promoting art and design as a catalyst of social change. As such, we are champions for the creative arts; empowering all of our students to be valued and productive members of society, with ambitions to change the world.

Situated in the historic city centre of Norwich, with an impressive estate that encompasses both historic buildings and brand-new state of the art facilities, the University is a vibrant community that forms the beating heart of the city and region's arts and cultural worlds.

We are looking for a Senior Lecturer to contribute to the organisation, leadership, development and delivery of our exciting new taught postgraduate courses in human-centred design. The three Masters awards in this area are MA Service Design, MA Interaction Design and MA User Experience, which fall within the responsibility of the Communication Design Programme. The role involves providing expertise in Service Design across the programme and includes coordinating PGT courses in human-centred design.

The postholder will work closely with the Programme Director and other PGT Coordinators to develop course content and design a high-quality student experience. The role includes recruitment and outreach work, and teaching within and beyond the programme at both postgraduate and undergraduate level.

You will be an expert in Service Design and an inspiring teacher with experience of leading modules, units and/or year groups. You will have a strong understanding of the critical concepts and theories relevant to human-centred design and be confident in teaching this area of study. Ideally, you will have experience of contributing to the design and delivery of a taught postgraduate award. You will have knowledge of developments in the sector and experience in developing networks between education and industry. Through on-going research, knowledge exchange and professional practice, the post-holder will ensure currency and relevance of the subject area and contribute to the external profile of the university.

The successful applicant will be an excellent teacher who puts inclusivity at the heart of their practice. You will be an advocate for your discipline, promoting the courses to prospective students and teachers, both at home and internationally. You will have the ability to work closely with a variety of internal and external stakeholders, bringing diverse voices into our student experience and ensuring the support we give our students is culturally competent. You will have the ambition to equip students with the social and cultural capital that will allow them to confidently grasp relevant opportunities and challenges.

You will be able to demonstrate currency in your industry experience and/or research practice. You will be a strong team player able to demonstrate excellent skills in team-working, organisation and management. The role requires a collaborative and pro-active approach to working with a range of stakeholders and delivering outcomes.
